

FOUR WIVES ARE GRANTED DECREEES

One Lone Husband Also Freed From Distasteful Matrimonial Ties.

NON-SUPPORT IS BURDEN OF COMPLAINT OF WOMEN

Demon Rum Responsible for Trouble Between "Hubby" and Better-Half.

Four wives and one husband were freed from distasteful mates in the third district court Friday. Three of the unhappy women were given their freedom in Judge Morse's regular Friday afternoon divorce matinee. Non-support was the burden of their complaints.

Christine Lang said she had to support herself and her husband, Walter J. Lang, too. They were married here July 10, 1907, and the only contribution Lang made towards her support was $75 shortly after they were married. This he subsequently borrowed back, with $200 more, Mrs. Lang testified. Lang is a cook and can earn, if he wants to, from $75 to $90 a month as such. Mrs. Lang further testified. The divorce was granted. Lang is now in California, it is said. There are no children.

Mrs. Henrietta M. Craig, whose divorce suit against William J. Craig recently was stricken from the calendar, helped Mrs. Lang get her divorce with corroborating testimony.

Lee L. Bondurant took quiet leave of Grace L. Bondurant, whom he married here March 29, 1905, in July of last year. Mrs. Bondurant testified, and although she had no definite information as to Bondurant's whereabouts, she has since heard that he is a railway ticket agent in Spokane. Mrs. Ida L. Richardson, Mrs. Bondurant's mother, said that Bondurant came to her house to kiss his wife and baby goodbye when he left, but did not say where he was going.

Mrs. Bondurant was granted a divorce, the custody of the daughter Helen, 3 years old, and restored to her maiden name of Richardson.

Mrs. Petty Is Freed.

Clara E. Stevens Petty was granted a divorce from her carpenter husband, Albert C. Petty, on the ground of non-support, the custody of the daughter Lottie, 3 years old, and $12.50 a month alimony until the child is 10 years old and $15 a month after that. They were married here June 25, 1905, but separated about December 10, 1906, less than a year afterwards.

Nora Rogers left Laban D. Rogers, to whom she was married at Boulder, Colo., August 21, 1897, because he wouldn't work for her and his living. Rogers can earn $8 a month easily if he will only work, she testified. She drinks and gambles. Mrs. Rogers is now employed in the dressmaking department of Walker's store to support herself. The divorce was granted and the mother awarded the custody of the 9-year-old son, Cornelius.

At the morning session Judge Morse granted Agnes Wilcox a divorce from M. W. Wilcox on the grounds of non-support and desertion, and gave her the custody of the minor child, Agnes, 15 years old. They were married at Palmyra, N. Y., December 5, 1881, and came here and lived until February of 1908, when Wilcox deserted her, according to the testimony. Since then Mrs. Wilcox has been dependent upon relatives largely for her support.

Demon Rum Responsible.

In Judge Armstrong's division Friday morning Claud C. Bridgford showed that the rum demon was largely responsible for the breaking up of his family, and asked for a divorce from Luella M. Bridgford, who, from the date of their marriage—May 24, 1901—drank to the extent that she was classed as a habitual drunkard, covering a period of six years.

When the orders to show cause were called in Judge Morse's division in the afternoon, Edna Eldredge, who is suing E. E. Eldredge for separate maintenance, tried to show that Eldredge was the owner of a second-hand clothing business that brought him $200 a month, but in this she was unsuccessful.

Mrs. Eldredge got an order for $25 a month temporary alimony in lieu of the $65 a month she asked for. Eldredge testified that he had recently sold the second-hand business to a brother from Nebraska, and descended from property to a clerk in his brother's employ at a salary of something like $100 a month.

Martin Grimm was ordered to pay Mary G. Grimm $40 a month alimony, pending the determination of Mrs. Grimm's suit.

BODY OF SUICIDE IS SHIPPED TO RELATIVES

The remains of the late W. D. Eoff, who committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid at the Wilson hotel Tuesday afternoon, were shipped to relatives in St. Louis at 6:15 o'clock Friday evening. The body was prepared for burial by Undertaker Joseph William Taylor. Eoff had a father and mother residing in St. Louis, also a number of sisters and brothers.

The body of Harry Enrich, the other man who committed suicide at the Wilson hotel Tuesday, is still being held at the undertaking establishment of S. D. Evans. Attempts are being made to communicate with relatives of the deceased, but so far they have proved fruitless. He will probably be buried in this city.

Action for $333.33.

Anna E. Clawson is suing G. D. B. Turner in the district court to recover $333.33 for alleged failure on the part of Turner to turn over to her and her husband shares of stock in the West Quincey Mining company, as agreed when the company was formed. Turner, it is alleged, converted the stock to his own use, selling 99,900 shares of treasury stock to his own use and selling them for $10,000.

GREAT AMERICAN FLAG IS PLANNED

Will Be Feature of the G. A. R. Encampment Here Next August.

TO CROSS MAIN STREET BELOW SEVENTH SOUTH

Living Flag, Composed of 15,000 School Children, Another Novel Feature.

One of the most beautiful features ever carried out at any encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be undertaken at the holding of the forty-third national encampment, to be held here August 9 to 14, in the representation of a huge American flag placed across Main street just below Seventh South street, in such a position that it will be in full view of the Grand Army veterans as they parade down the main thoroughfare of the city August 11.

It is the custom of the veterans at the annual encampments to parade a distance of two miles. In view of this the situation here is unusually excellent for carrying out such a plan. The great reviewing stand for the commander-in-chief and other prominent officers of the G. A. R., President Taft and other dignitaries will be placed across Main street, just north of the Brigham Young monument.

Divisions of Parade.

Different divisions of the parade will be formed on the east side of Main street south of South Temple street. Divisions of the parade will enter Main street through South Temple in sight of the great reviewing stand, but will not pass in review. The column will turn to the left and pass south on the east side of Main street as far south as Seventh South, where the veterans will counter-march and return north on Main street, pass by on the north side of the monument in front of the reviewing stand and then north through the side streets, where they will disband.

Thus all features of the parade will be in plain sight of the observers on the reviewing stand during the entire time of the march down Main street. The great living flag, formed of 15,000 school children, will also be in plain view of those who take part in the parade.

Entirely New Feature.

This feature of the parade has existed in no other city in which the Grand Army encampment have been held. The living flag is one of the prettiest features of the parade and the effect of the movements of the gaily dressed children made to imitate the waving of the national colors is said to be wonderfully beautiful.

Full arrangements were made Friday by Col. Frank M. Sterrett, executive director of the encampment, for the placing of the grandstands for the reviewers and for the living flag. The property owners have given their consent to the use of their premises and the closing of the street can be obtained easily from the city. Colonel Sterrett expressed himself Friday evening as well pleased with this feature of the parade and comments on the fact that the veterans will remember it as one of the pleasantest features of the entire affair.

JOHNSON KEEPING TAB AT THE COUNTY JAIL

Peter Johnson's genial countenance is missed from Judge Morse's division of the district court, in which Johnson is bailiff. The reason is that Johnson has been compelled to take the place of Berkeley Senger as night turnkey at the county jail, on account of Senger's illness. James Hilton is acting as bailiff in Judge Morse's court while Johnson is turnkey at the county jail.

MOTION OF VANCE FOR NEW TRIAL GOES OVER

Crush of Other Business Prevents Court From Hearing Matter.

On account of the heavy crush of other business, the motion of Thomas Vance, convicted wife-murderer, for a new trial, was not heard in Judge Armstrong's division of the Third district court at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, but was postponed until 9 o'clock this morning.

The state has added some sensationalism to the case with five affidavits from neighbors of Mrs. Amanda Vance Ward, whose truth and veracity are to the effect that she is truthful and that her testimony is to be relied upon. The purpose of these last affidavits, which were presented late Friday afternoon, is to offset the affidavits filed by the defense two or three weeks ago.

Vance has the right to be present at the hearing and will be brought from the state prison about 8:30 o'clock.

This will be the first time he has enjoyed any outside freedom since he was taken to the state prison about the middle of January.

SOCIETY OF ENGINEERS MEETS AT UNIVERSITY

Interesting Papers Are Read and Most Instructive Evening Is Passed.

THE UTAH SOCIETY OF ENGINEERS

The Utah Society of Engineers held its regular monthly meeting Friday evening in the physics lecture room at the University of Utah. The speakers were read by L. H. Krebs, assistant engineer of sewers, and by O. H. Skidmore, electrical engineer, both from the office of City Engineer L. C. Kelsey.

Dr. J. S. Merrill presided at the meeting, the only business aside from the papers being the appointment of a committee by the chairman to nominate officers for the ensuing year. This committee, composed of D. McNichol, Sylvester Hamberger, R. E. Lyman, R. F. Tibbey and R. L. Hornung, will make nominations some time before the next regular meeting, to be held Friday evening, April 16, at which time the election will take place.

Mr. Krebs spoke on the "Sewer System of Salt Lake." He briefly discussed the history of this important branch of engineering, and explained the dependence of health and public welfare on the proper construction of a modern sewer system. There are two plans in vogue at present, Salt Lake having the system where the storm water and sewage are carried off separately. This necessitates the introduction of flushing apparatus, but, according to Mr. Krebs, it gives better satisfaction in a locality like Salt Lake. Mr. Krebs described the gravity outlet and the intercepting systems in this city, and defended the construction of big pumping plant, which, he says, is working in a satisfactory manner in spite of the predictions of some engineers that it would be impracticable.

O. H. Skidmore's subject was "The Filing of Records in the City Engineer's Office." One of the main features of this work is the practice of keeping all field notes on loose leaf sheets, which can be classified and filed in a systematic manner, much more readily than was the case with the old system. He also dealt on the methods of indexing and filing maps, so that they can be referred to when needed. Computations and contracts and specifications for all improvements are also filed for immediate reference at any time. All of the records are kept in a concrete-steel vault, where they are safe from fire.

DOG UNDER SENTENCE

Chief of Police Barlow Proposes to Decrease the Canine Population.

That Chief of Police Samuel M. Barlow intends to rid the city of all stray and homeless dogs, was made clear Friday afternoon, when he announced his intention of having every such dog killed by the officers and taken to the crematorium after the public has been given due warning. If a person has a dog and wishes to keep it, he will hereafter be compelled to take out a license to do so, and further, he will be required to put a collar upon the dog's neck, with the tag attached.

Chief Barlow stated Friday evening that there are hundreds of stray dogs in Salt Lake City, which the dog-catcher is unable to touch, and that the only way to get them out of the way is for the police to act. He attached no blame to the dog-catcher, as he said he was no doubt doing his best, but the fact that dogs are multiplying so rapidly makes it impossible for him to pick up all stray animals.

The chief says no dogs will be touched until the public has been duly notified of the action which he intends to take, but just as soon as this can be done, he intends to issue an order to the patrolmen requiring them to kill every stray dog which they find on any of the streets of the city. Stray dogs have been a big annoyance in the business district of late, and this Chief Barlow intends to put an end.

DR. GAMBLE GIVEN SENTENCE IN JAIL

Well-Known Osteopath Physician Is Sent Up for Contempt of Court.

FAILS TO PAY ALIMONY TO HIS DIVORCED WIFE

Pleads That He Has a Second Wife and a Mother to Care For.

Dr. Gustave A. Gamble, an osteopath, with offices in the Atlas block, was adjudged guilty of contempt of court in Judge Morse's division of the third district court Friday afternoon, and sentenced to four days' confinement in the county jail.

Dr. Gamble's contempt grew out of his failure to comply with the court's order to pay his divorced wife, Dr. Mary E. Gamble, alimony. Mrs. Gamble, with offices in the Temple building, alimony. Mrs. Gamble secured the order with a decree of divorce in Judge Morse's division early in July, and Dr. Gamble was ordered to pay her three times for alleged delinquency in complying with the order, Mrs. Gamble alleging that it was nearly always from a week to twenty days after the time specified in the order—the fifteenth of the month—before she received the alimony.

When called to the witness stand in his own behalf Friday afternoon, Dr. Gamble admitted being delinquent with the March payment of alimony, but pleaded that he has a mother and a wife to support and that his expenses are heavy. He admitted, however, that he is earning in the neighborhood of $150 a month.

Sentence Pronounced.

"That will be all, Dr. Gamble," interjected the court. "You have willfully and systematically evaded and disobeyed the order of this court in this regard. You are guilty of contempt, and the sentence of this court is that you be confined in the county jail for four days."

There being nothing for him to say, Dr. Gamble merely smiled before he was escorted by a deputy sheriff from Sheriff Sharp's office to the county jail to begin his sentence.

Dr. Gamble first sued for divorce on the grounds of cruelty, to which Mrs. Gamble filed a sensational answer and cross-complaint, all of which is thoroughly familiar to the public at large. Dr. Gamble dropped his complaint and allowed Mrs. Gamble to secure a decree on his cross-complaint on the ground of cruelty. Mrs. Gamble was also awarded $25 a month alimony. Shortly after this Dr. Gamble and a Salt Lake woman, who was named in Mrs. Gamble's cross-complaint, shipped into Sanpete county and were quietly married, returning here to live.

SUIT FILED ON NOTE AND OPEN ACCOUNT

Joseph Dohmeier brought suit against Joseph Miehlich in the third district court Friday to recover $876, with interest, alleged to be due on a promissory note, bearing date of July 25, 1903, and payable in one year. For a second cause of action Dohmeier is also suing to recover on a claim alleged to be due upon an assigned claim from Anna Dohmeier.

It is set out that the woman worked for Miehlich at Eureka from April 1, 1905, to July 1, 1905, for which she was to receive $4 a week. Miehlich is alleged, failed to pay the woman and she assigned her claim to the plaintiff.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS GOLD MEDAL AWARDED

Delightful and Exciting Contest Had at All Hallows College.

THE FIRST ANNUAL ESSAY CONTEST

The first annual essay contest for the Knights of Columbus gold medal was held at All Hallows college last night before a large audience. The boys acquitted themselves creditably, and at the close of the contest the judges were unable to decide between Julius Hilgard and Arthur McChrystal for first place. The two boys drew for the medal and Julius Hilgard was successful. The orchestra rendered several selections which met with the hearty approval of the audience. The recitation by Robert Young was especially well given. The faculty quartette made a distinct hit and the audience accorded it much applause. Dean Harris, on behalf of the judges, in awarding the medal, congratulated the boys on the showing they had made and predicted that, with the experience obtained in this contest, they would do much better work in the future. The programme was as follows:

P. A. SORENSON RETURNS FROM TRIP TO IDAHO

P. A. Sorenson, president of the I. X. L. furniture and carpet company, arrived in Salt Lake Friday afternoon on a business trip through southern Idaho. Out of five or six messages sent to him at different points he should be visiting, the first one he received was from Gooding, and this reached him at 1 o'clock Thursday morning. Wednesday he had wired the house from Wendell, Idaho. As a business man he regrets the fire, but is not at all downcast about it and is ready to resume as soon as the adjustment is completed. He expressed the highest appreciation of the effective work done by the fire department, and proposes to appropriately express his thanks to Chief Glore and the men for the work that kept the actual damage to the building down to the low figure of $20,000.

In the late afternoon Calvert Meade, fire loss adjuster of San Francisco, arrived and was brought into Mr. Sorenson's private office by Special Agent J. W. Bookridge of Salt Lake. He made a cursory examination of the third floor and its contents, the part in which the fire damage mostly resided, and noted that work was in progress cleaning up much of the furniture that had been damaged only by water.

The adjustment of the losses will begin this morning, when a conference of all the adjusters in the city will be held, a committee appointed and rules adopted.
